DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 14-23 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yamamoto et al. [US 6,425,468].

Yamamoto et al discloses a system comprising:

- drive units arranged on a movable part, each drive unit [figure 6] powered in a contactless manner by an inductive coupling to at least one primary conductor [5], wherein the movable part includes at least a linear drive [linearly movable] and wherein the primary conductor is inherently formed of a cable duct;

- a closed loop conductor [5];
- electronic circuit [figures 1-2]; and
- at least one secondary coil [24e] disposed around at least one U-shaped or C-shaped core, wherein the primary conductor adapted to power the drive unit in series.

Regarding claim 26, Yamamoto et al. inherently discloses the drive unit does not include a plug-and-socket connector or other electrical connection terminals on its exterior.

Claims 14 and 27 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by UK 2,100,069.

UK 2,100,069 discloses a system comprising:

Art Unit: 2832

- a drive units arranged on a movable part, each drive unit powered in a contactless manner by an inductive coupling to at least one primary conductor [11], wherein the drive unit is arranged such that information is transmittable by modulating higher-frequency signals onto the primary conductor.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 24-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yamamoto et al.,

Regarding claim 24, Yamamoto et al. discloses the instant claimed invention except for the specific of the primary conductor.

The specific coating/covering/encapsulating of the primary conductor would have been an obvious design consideration for the purpose of providing protection/insulation.

Regarding claim 25, the specific arrangement of the drive unit would have been an obvious design consideration based on the intended applications/environments uses.
